

Vultures are large black birds with red, featherless heads. These scavengers are strong flyers, often soaring high above the ground for hours. Their main food is carrion (dead animals). Vultures use keen eyesight and sense of smell to locate their prey.